Agreement Reached On Reapportionment Plan

HARRISBURG (AP) - Republican and Democratic policy makers agreed Wednesday night on a basic plan for reapportionment of Pennsylvania's congressional seats, Under the tentative proposal, Republicans would eliminate a Central Pennsylvania seat, Democrats would eliminate a Philadelphia seat and one seat east of the Susquehanna River would be up for grabs. The plan would provide that incumbent Republican James Van Zandt would have his district merged with the district seat now headed by Rep. Irving Whalley.

Democrats reported that Rep. William Green, Jr., Philadelphia Democratic chairman, had not yet provided a plan indicating which of the city's six congressmen would be eliminated.

The major disagreement between the parties centered on the so-called swing district. Republicans proposed that a new district be formed which would put Rep. Ivor Fenton, Reepublican, against Rep. Francis E. Walter, Democrats proposed that the swing district put Fenton against Rep. George M. Rhodes.

Civic Complacency

Probably the residents of the Stroudsburgs and Monroe County in general are in the category of most other communities in the United States as far as what we term "civic complacency" is concerned. In a number of the communities where we have lived and visited, the feeling seems to be about the same. Yet it is not a good situation.

People are prone to criticize the community in which they live, to wonder why "somebody doesn't do something" about a situation, to gripe when a community doesn't seem to progress, and list scores of things that should be done to make for improvement. This is what we term civic complacency - the feeling that everything is wrong and everybody should do something about it the feeling that it's not up to them to do anything about it.

We wonder if they ever stopped to realize that, if everyone in a community felt that way, it would very quickly become decadent and backward in every respect. There would be no one to take the initiative for any project and carry it through to fruition.

But, by the grace of God, there are a handful in every community and in most organizations, that do not feel this way. They step forward when they see something to be done, and do their level best to accomplish it. They are not satisfied with "civic complacency" but strive to make their community a living, breathing thing that grows and progresses by vigorous activity rather than complacency.

Their reward: Usually it is a hue and cry from the sidelines as to what should be done, or should not have to be done, or gripes on what is being done. There's seldom a bystander who is willing to get out in the middle of the road and put his shoulder to the wheel to lighten the load.

Take a good luck at yourself as a citizen of your community. Are you a proponent of civic complacency, or an active worker for the betterment of your community, your county, your state, your nation - and the world? Look in the mirror and see what you find. If the picture is wrong, do something to correct it!

New Hope For Coal

once had coal as a main prop of their economy, will hail the news from Washington that a crash program of research is getting under way to spur the consumption of the fuel. This long-sick industry has produced not only unemployment but also an unhealthy attitude toward development of other sources of energy. A healthier climate in coal would lead to a healthy climate in Congress for hydro and nuclear power development.

Coal mines in the United States employ fewer miners today than they did 70 years ago. In the last 14 years production has declined about one-third. Hundreds of Alle-Kiski miners have lost their jobs and whole communities have been turning into something like ghost cational Secretaries Association held its monthly meeting at East Stroudsburg State College.

Dr. James Skelton, associate professor of English, ESSC, was in charge of the second session of the workshop. His topic was Grammer, Composition and Letter Writing.

There were sixteen secretaries representing the following office, East Stroudsburg State College, East Stroudsburg Area Joint High, Pocono Mountain School District, and Stroud Union School District.

Next month's meeting will consider "Typing Numbers," "Accurate Punctuation," "Business Letter Appearance' and "Sentence Structure."

Shipments Of Steel Off

NEW YORK (AP)-Shipments of finished steel products in the first 11 months of 1961 were 60,350,942 tons, off appreciably from 67,046. 359 tons in the similar 1960 period, the American Iron and Steel Institute said.

Shipments of electrolytic tin plate were at a record rate of 5,015,981 tons, compared with 4,-836,139 a year earlier, and boosted the product's share of the market to 8.3 per cent from 7.2 per cent a year earlier.

Violation Of Parole Jails LaBadie

HORACE LaBadie, 49 N. 10th St., Stroudsburg, yesterday was sentenced to one year in Monroe County Jail on charges of parole violation. Judge Fred W. Davis also imposed a fine of $300 and costs in Monroe County Court. LaBadie was convicted by a fury last Sept. 29 on charges of obstructing an officer in the execution of process. On Dec. 15. he was placed on probation for one year and fined $100 and costs, to be paid in $10 weekly installments beginning Jan. 1.

Mayor And Chief For $60 A Year

STRAUSSTOWN, Pa. (AP)-This borough of 380 population in northern Berks County at last has found a man who'll be both mayor and police chief for $60 a year. He is Eugene F. Bauscher, 36-year-old Navy veteran, who works for a metal container company.

Borough Council chose him unanimously last night, filling a twin post left vacant last fall by 1-1 write-in tie between Paul G. Spengler and Edwin J. Moyer, Jr. Lots were drawn to break the tie. Spengler won, but refused to serve, saying the public job would hurt his barbering business.

Bauscher said Wednesday he probably was picked because he once was constable of Upper Tulpehocken Township, He had to give up that place when he moved to Strausstown.

Two Die From Gas Heater

MERCER, Pa. (AP) - Fumes from an unvented gas heater killed Harry S. McMichael Jr. 52, and Mrs. Katheryn E. Myers. 38, both of Sandy Lake, over the weekend.

Their bodies were found yesterday in a cottage about 10 miles north of here. Deputy Coroner A. J. Lyons said they died about 4 p.m.

State Processes 7 Claims

Record Harrisburg Bureau HARRISBURG-The State Auditor General's Department has processed seven right-of-way claims amounting to $44,750 covering highway improvement projects in Monroe County

Three of the wards were for property along relocated Route 12, including:

Joseph and Hedwig Pfaffinger, Stroudsburg, $20,500; Kathryn M. Jones, Saylorsburg, $2,450, and Ole I. and Inger M. Rosand, Stroudsbur'g, $2,500.

Three other awards were for property along U.S. 209, including: T. D. and Irene H. Else, Stroudsburg, $2,200; and Ethel M. Pittman, Allentown, two payments totaling $10,300.

The remaining award went to J L. and Margaret L. Heffner, Pottsville, for a right-of-way along Interstate 80. The award amounted to $6,800.

America's Top Designers Reveal Their Creations In New York Just

By BOBBY WESTBROOK
Daily Record Family Fare Editor

NEW YORK — A model wearing a Trigere dress did the Twist on the runway at the New York Couture Group showings for the nation's fashion press and still managed to look like a lady. This impossible achievement was due to the genius of Pauline Trigere who can even discipline a ruffle with magic. For instance, a tiered dress was a work of love, each tier hand-rolled and shaped to the body.

Pauline Trigere sets trends rather than following them, and her spring collection is "pure Pauline", her constant trend of a fashion line drawn inward at the center and widened at shoulder and hemline.

Her exciting Unicorn begins at the apex of a small peaked hat and widens in a cone shape with just one gentle curve inward between bust and hip. Her "parasol shoulder rounds out low over the arms, caught back and front by a wide cummerbund; her "tear-drop armholes" are swagged around the upper arm showing just the last outer inch of shoulder.

In her American race-track series, the "Belmont" features a racy and pert cutaway jacket with trimly widened shoulders and one high-closing button over a dress with high-pitched waistline and unicorn flared skirt, with a second skirt for multi-purpose use. Also multi-purpose are her "Let's Call it a Deal" series integrating a full-length cape in black jersey reversible to a stencilled black-on-white silk print worn over three distinctly different — use dresses: black jersey, two piece silk print casaque with jersey skirt, and a white on black print

The entire collection proved Trigere's claim that she designs for "people of consequence, for the woman who is aware of her social responsibilities whether it's backing up her husband's career or carving out one of her own", and illustrated her claim that the right dress can be worn "year after year after year after year."

Even fellow-designers in a highly competitive field admit her genius. Paul Parnes, for instance, admitted: "Following Pauline is like following Bob Hope," adding frankly, "Our styles may not make spectacular news, but they are the styles women like to wear to look pretty."

They are, too. His three-piece suit of Italian silk with its buttonless bolero-type jacket was definitely "pretty" with its white silk overblouse and white silk jacket lining both appliqued with black lace sprays.

Davidow is still the darling of the Madame President, country club suburbia set with his classic suits and coats, done this year with a more definitive silhouette with the focus on the waistline marked by wider self-belts or elongaged sash belts in matching fabric or in leather.

Adele Simpson gave the press miniature velvet dress-form pincushions and with them her permission to copy any number in the show. The joker is that it is impossible to copy Adele Simpson. Take, for instance, her wedge bodices where, with a fold of material she manages to create the illusion of a brief sleeve, widened shoulder and hence narrower waistline.

Her coats with elbow-length sleeves are coordinated with several dresses and skirts for travel-worthy wear, and from her own travels she brought back a world of unusual fabrics.

Christian Dior — New York has Guy Douvier firmly established as their American designer. His collection this year is deliberately quiet and subtle rather than smashing. High fit and low width dominate the collection: high-bosomed, incurving in a beltless princess line. His skirts have a double impact: side slim and straight but frequently covered by a slashed kaftan tunic or panels.

Harry Frechtel also emphasizes skirts in a variety of shapes: pocketed, paneled, pleated, flared, wrapped, or welt-seamed in his "Lady of Quality" look.

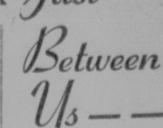

Edward Abbott's lady of quality needs a man around the house. At least, his models kept him busy unfastening the back-closings which marked many of the cocktail and dinner dresses for which he is noted. His evening customes often feature a keep-covered outline with long, tight-fitting sleeves in the dress or its clinging jacket.

Incidentally, his star model, sable-haired Barbara Hunt, has just written a book "How to Succeed with Children".

Pauline Trigere should write a book "How to Succeed in Making News With the Fashion Press".

-By Bobby Westbrook

If - no, make that With -Pauline Trigere as the highlight of fashions for Press Week, the highlight of entertainment was the performance of "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying." Women charged with the responsibility of getting theater tickets for the annual bridge club junket will appreciate the difficulties of Ship 'N Shore, who, after triumphantly securing 200 tickets to the season's biggest smash hit, found themselves with 250 acceptances. The hosts gave up their own coveted tickets, but there were still 30 disappointed women out in the cold.

Their disappointment wasn't the least lessened the next morning when the conversation of their more fortunate sisters was devoted to rave reviews of "the most delightful show in years." The waves of laughter swept the audience with the regularity, and even more exuberance, than waves breaking against the shore.

A takeoff on all the "How To—" books, it was of particular delight to business women with its spoofing of office routine: the coffee break, the intra-office politics, the office cocktail party (where 20 girls turned up in the same "Paris Original"), and, in general, "The Company Way."

Every woman, of whatever age, wanted to take the star, Robert Morse, home with her. Even more appealing, more lovable, more boyish than Mickey Rooney of 16 years ago. Morse appealed as much to the maternal instinct of the press as to that of the boss's hard-shelled efficient secretary.

Speaking of 16 years ago, which most of the fashion press remembers only too clearly, they also took heart in the fact that Rudy Vallee, in the supporting role, is still in there,—and still singing. Valee was a guest at the luncheon the next day as was the 20-year-old feminine star, Bonnie Scott—with the inimitable take-off on a take-off by pantomimist Ellen Martin.

"How to Succeed" s a delght and with their fashion news the fashion press will bring home a strong recommendation to their readers to see it when they can get tickets, say a year from next March.

Guess the cost of one page of advertising...in one copy of the daily newspaper!

ANSWER:...JUST ABOUT A PENNY! In spite of greatly increased costs of production and moderate rate increases, you can still buy a big full-page newspaper ad, to run in every daily in the U.S., for about a penny a copy. And an advertiser can continue to plan future newspaper campaigns secure in the knowledge that any cost increase will be moderate and will not SERIES disrupt his budget. That's why so many use newspapers.

these "extras" come with your new car or truck!

Radio, heater, power steering, automatic transmission, 4-wheel drive. They're all pretty important extras.

B. the essential "extras" are the ones you don't see when you buy your new car or truck. They're in back of our showroom! Busy at their job. They're the factory-trained specialists and technicians who work in our Service Dept.

There's quite a few of them (more than twice as many men as we have in our showroom). And these men are experts at their jobs. They know how to baby your brake lining. Fuss with your fan belt. Spot the little flaws in the engine. They're real pros who take pride in making life easier for you. And they have the factory engineered parts and knowhow to do the job right!

It's not included in the price sticker on the window, but you can be assured you'll get all these "extras" when you buy your next car or truck from E. M.

Motor Trend Magazine makes it official: 1962 car of the year!

From the very first we knew we had a winner. Happy owners, car enthusiasts raved about the 1962 Buick Special with the history-making Fireball V-6 engine. Now the editors of Motor Trend - one of the country's top car magazines - have made it official. After roadtesting and evaluating all U.S. cars, they've named the V-6 Special "Car of the Year!" Here's how they put it ...

"Motor Trend's CAR OF THE YEAR AWARD to the 1962 Buick for pure progress in design, originative engineering excellence, and the power concept for the future expressed in America's only V-6 automobile engine."

Why are the car experts so hot on this exclusive Buick engine? Only a V-6 can combine the extra vigor and smoothness of V-design with the gas savings of a straight six. This 135 H.P. V-6 weighs up to 140 pounds less than other sixes of comparable power. It sips regular gas ever so sparingly. But why go on? Ask your Buick dealer to let you drive a V-6 Buick Special. There are five beautiful models, in-
